

ABSTRACT

A method producing conductive rods localized on conductive blocks of an electronic component.